What Is Doing in the Summer Season.

By MARGARET WADE.

A MOVING picture drama of a great Italian poet, staged by an American playwright, in the rose garden of the White House, for the entertainment of the Presidential household and a few intimate friends, is the latest expression in movies.

This unique entertainment of Friday evening when the President and Mrs. Wilson were given a private view of D'Annunzio's Cabiria, with a piano accompaniment brought together the official family of the President in an altogether delightful way that will serve as a close to their social season.

The guests sharing the pictures with the President and family were the Vice President and Mrs. Marshall and the Cabinet families, many of whom will leave town in the present week not to return until autumn.

While new in White House entertaining, the picture show, or the photoplay, as movies of the superlative degree are called, has had quite a vogue in Washington drawing-rooms in the past winter. Mrs. Pinchot entertained her friends at one of her smart Monday evening at-homes by a delightfully realistic spectacle of tarpon fishing in Florida, with Mr. Gifford Pinchot and his friends as the dramatic personae.

The Panama Canal in its various stages, always showing a number of familiar figures as well as much scenery, has served for several drawing-room entertainments. The present Secretary of War and Mrs. Garrison are stars of one of the best of the recent Panama plays. This was given a private run in the home of Mrs. Thomas F. Walsh just prior to that hostess' departure for Europe.

While it is expected that Mrs. Wilson and Miss Wilson will leave during the present week for Harlakenden House, at Cornish, N. H., there is every prospect of many notable residents of the Capital remaining near, if not in Washington all summer.

The Secretary of State and Mrs. Bryan, although located on the hills at the extreme northern boundary of the city, and with the most extensive private garden in town, are said to be seeking a country home within fifty miles of the Capital for the remainder of the summer. Mrs. Houston and her small children are already established at Woods Hole, Mass.; Mrs. Garrison at Sea Bright, N. J. The Secretary of the Interior and Mrs. Lane are packing up to take possession of their cottage on Lake Champlain July 2, and the Postmaster General and Mrs. Burleson have leased a cottage at Grimsby, Ontario, where Mrs. Burleson and the Misses Burleson will pass the summer.

The departure of the Admiral of the Navy and Mrs. Dewey today aboard the President's yacht Mayflower, marks a happy exchange of courtesies between the Chief Executive and the Chief of the National Defense. The Admiral and Mrs. Dewey are going to pass the summer at Manhattan Beach, not strictly at Coney Island, but at a residential hotel near by, where in past seasons they have enjoyed all the advantages of the seashore, with the comforts of a metropolitan hotel and the society of many old friends. The Admiral, who has been confined to his home in K street for the past ten days, for the first time in his active life, is feeling the ill effects of warm weather, for which reason the short sea voyage aboard the Mayflower has been advised.

That clever matron familiar with polite society of two continents, who gave her reason for not having a day at home, "that she could see as many of her friends as she wished any morning on F street," spoke some years ago, and of the winter season. The same reasoning holds good today even with the mercury over the ninety mark. Today, however, the fashionable shopping zone has been extended several blocks to the northwest, so that a really popular woman may greet a succession of friends from Eleventh and F streets all the way up to Connecticut avenue and Jefferson place.

It is on this well-traveled territory many of the interesting topics of the past week found pleasant discussion.

The engagement of Miss Ethel Noyes to young Tom Blagden was made known to more than a dozen good friends of the pretty bride-to-be during one short excursion to town from her country home out in Maryland, where Mr. and Mrs. Noyes proposed making a formal announcement of the interesting fact at a family luncheon today. Miss Mary McCauley, another interesting "engaged" accepting congratulations at a fashionable milliner's, with an equally popular belle denying all matrimonial intentions to a group of friends at a leading florist's, afforded what might be called pleasant social interest in a morning's shopping.

Mrs. Montgomery Blair and her eldest daughter stopped to talk with friends at the notion counter of a department store in F street, as they made their final purchases for a summer at Narragansett Pier, where Miss Edith Blair will have a preliminary center in the social field before being formally presented to her parents' friends next winter.

Mrs. Redfield, wife of the Secretary of Commerce, during her morning shopping in a cool-looking gray linen coat suit, and young Mrs. Franklin Roosevelt in a figured lawn of dull pink with one of the new cape mantles in voile, exchanged pleasant greetings in a leisurely, friendly way at an F-street store.

At a fashionable confectioner's on the same busy thoroughfare, Mrs. John C. Simpson and Mrs. William B. Mearns, whose friendship goes back to their childhood days, sipped their cooling soda and viewed with polite interest the company of maids and matrons of the neighboring tables, few of whom ever saw a real native Washingtonian beyond the kindergarten class.

Mrs. James R. Mann, wife of the minority leader of the House, strolled through the aisles of the large department store making her purchases in a fine but plainly made white muslin frock with becoming black hat. Mrs. Mann met many friends in the course of an hour's shopping, and never once complained of the heat. This clever lady from Illinois set herself a short table of topics to be tabooed in polite conversation, which is one reason, but only one reason for her popularity.

The marriage of Miss Rosemary Bradford, youngest daughter of Rear Admiral and Mrs. Bradford, to Lieut. Clarence A. Richards at St. Margaret's Church on Tuesday afternoon, will bring to a close the season of fashionable weddings at the Capital.

On the same day, but in Philadelphia, the home city of the bride, will take place the marriage of Dr. Charles D. Walcott, secretary of the Smithsonian Institution, and Miss Mary Morris Vaux, daughter of Mr. George Vaux.

The trans-Atlantic cable and wireless telegraphy have become a matter of course to present-day society, one is never surprised to hear on Sunday what may have happened to one's friends in Paris, London, or Berlin, almost any day of the preceding week. Thanks to Mr. Marconi's genius, the capital of the German Empire is just as near as the capital of California, Michigan, or Maine, and much more interesting. Consequently, the happenings of American residents or visitors of the main-traveled roads of Europe, while interesting are recorded in much the same perfunctory fashion of a special correspondent at a North Shore summer resort.

When it comes to a trans-Pacific message of happenings in China, Japan, or Australia, we are much more likely to be impressed, if not by the chronicled event, at least by the marvelous method by which it is transmitted.

An item of this latter sort tells us Mr. Joseph Leiter and his party, who are now cruising in Chinese waters, expect to return to America and New York via the Panama Canal. Mr. Leiter, who leased the steam yacht Niagara from Howard Gould for a round-the-world cruise, is accompanied by his wife and their three small boys and Miss Frances Williams, Mrs. Leiter's youngest sister. They were joined in Japan by Mr. and Mrs. Blaine Elkins, of this city.

Mr. Leiter and Mr. Elkins were received by President Yuan Shih Kai in Peking, on June 12.

Hamline Methodist Episcopal Church, on Ninth and N streets, was the scene of a largely attended wedding yesterday afternoon, at which the contracting parties were Miss Elizabeth Swartzell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George W. F. Swartzell, and Ensign Charles C. Davis, U. S. N.

Four of the six sisters, best man and bridegroom being in uniform, and the particularly chic gowns of the bride's attendants, made this one of the most attractive bridal processions of the month. The ushers who met the bride party at the church door were Lieutenants Oliver Spiller and Owen Bartlett, Ensigns J. H. S. Dessez and Monroe Kelly, all of the navy; and the two brothers of the bride, Messrs. John and Henry Swartzell, brothers of the bride.

The latter, escorted by her father, was preceded by four bridesmaids and a maid of honor. This party included Miss Constance Gray, of Washington; Miss Kathryn Becker, of Convent Station, N. J.; Miss Betty Brown, of Sewickley, Pa.; Miss Susan Dessez and Miss Romona Crampton, both of Washington. Ensign John Saxter was best man. Rev. Lucian Clark, the pastor of the church, officiated.

The bridegroom was of white satin, with garniture of point lace, with which she wore a tulle veil held by orange blossoms. Her bouquet was a shower of roses and white sweet peas.

Miss Gray wore a charming gown of pale green tulle, with tulle and bodice garniture of Quaker lace, the bride's gown being attired in gowns of the same model, but in pale pink. All carried pink sweetpeas tied in green tulle, and wore smart leghorn hats. A small reception at the home of the bride's parents followed the ceremony. Here Mr. and Mrs. Swartzell were assisted in receiving by the parents of the bridegroom, Mr. and Mrs. Charles D. Davis. Mrs. Hugh Scott, of Atlanta, and Mrs. Joseph R. Hunt, of Laurel, Md., were guests of Mrs. Swartzell here for the wedding.

The members of the Excelsior Club are entertaining their friends at a tug ride today, starting from the wharf at 10 o'clock this morning, to return at 10 o'clock this evening.

The marriage of Mrs. Mable Vaux for a short visit to Mrs. Marshall, wife of Rear Admiral William A. Marshall.

Mr. Jonas Michaels and Mr. Maurice Kohner sailed Saturday for Europe, to remain for some weeks.

More than two hundred members of the Chevy Chase Club attended the weekly dance last evening. As usual a number of the dinner parties opened the evening's amusement.

Miss Lillian Burnstein has returned to the city, after a short visit to friends in Baltimore.

Dr. and Mrs. John Dulong entertained one of the largest companies in compliment to Miss Rosemary Bradford and Lieut. Clarence A. Richards, whose marriage will take place on Tuesday.

Miss Beatrice Katz, of Baltimore, is spending some time here, the guest of Miss Eleanor Selinger.

Senator and Mrs. Hitchcock, the Viscount and Viscountess Henri de Sibour, Mrs. J. Edwards, Mr. and Mrs. Meredith were other dinner hosts entertaining large companies.

Mr. Winters, of New Haven, spent a few days in town during the past week.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Medill McCormick, who are passing a week in New York, entertained at dinner last evening at the Plaza.

Miss Leah Herman, of this city, is spending some time in Chicago, the guest of friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Stephen H. Pell were notable dinner hosts at the Plaza on Friday evening.

Mr. Mortimer Kling left Washington during the week for New York, where he will spend some time.

The Secretary of the Interior and Mrs. Lane will send the children next Thursday up to Essex-on-the-Lake, New York, where they have taken a cottage for the summer and the late autumn. Miss Miriam Eastman will accompany the young people and chaperon them until the arrival of their parents.

Miss Marion Reynolds, of Baltimore, is spending some time in town the guest of friends.

Miss Florence Howard, of New Orleans, who made her Washington debut last December, under the chaperonage of her aunt, Mrs. Richard Weightman, is now a much entertained guest in Toledo, Ohio. She is visiting Mr. and Mrs. Justice Willis in Toledo, after a stay two weeks' visit in Chicago. Later in the season Miss Howard will join her mother at East Gloucester, Mass., where her family is returning to pass the summer.

Mrs. Walter L. McCintock, of Washington and Pittsburgh, has arrived at Carlisle, where she proposes passing a month or six weeks.

The Octagon Club is entertaining its members and friends at a tug ride today.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph A. Schoenfeld are late Washington arrivals at Bad Nauheim where they are at the Grand Hotel.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Denby, of this city, the former now Consul in Vienna, are at the Hague where Mr. Denby will represent the United States at the optimum conference.

Mr. Willard Goldheim, of this city, left during the week for Coolbaugh, N. Y., to remain during the summer months.

M. Pevnado, the retiring Minister of the Dominican Republic, has returned to Washington from his country, where he spent some weeks. The minister, who is retiring from diplomatic service, will leave shortly for Santo Domingo, accompanied by Mme. Pevnado and their children. His successor has been named, and is now on his way to Washington.

Paymaster John H. Knapp, U. S. N., and Mrs. Knapp, who were married here on April 22, have taken an apartment at the St. Regis and will take possession early part of the summer in Maine with Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Ewing, and later in the summer, accompanied by Miss Ewing and Thomas Ewing, Jr., will join her father and mother in Montana.

Mr. David Ottenger has returned to his home in the city from Cornell, where he was among the students who graduated.

Miss Sybil Hayes, daughter of Representative Hayes, of California, will leave this week for her home in San Jose. The younger daughter, Miss Phillis Hayes, with Miss Miriam Hayes, left some weeks ago for home, stopping to make visits in Chicago, Madison, Wis., and in the lake region. They have just arrived in San Jose. Mrs. Hayes will remain here until Mr. Hayes can also go home.

Hingham, Mass., is preparing for a great celebration on July 2 and 3, when a monument to John Tower, the founder of the village, will be dedicated. Chief speaker at this reunion of 500 descendants of the first Massachusetts Tower will be Charles Tower, the latter part of the ceremony, which his father began and he finished.

Representative and Mrs. Peter Goeltz, who have been at the New York home of Mr. Gerry's parents for the past few days, have gone to the latter part of the place at Lake Delaware, N. Y., for the remainder of the summer.

Dr. Tom A. Williams has returned from the American Medical Society meeting at Atlantic City.

Miss Dorothy Parks, of 50 Randolph place northwest, has gone to visit the Henry K. Chapins, of Chicago, Mackinaw, and Harbor Springs, Mich., who are relatives.

Later in the summer the entire party will make a trip to Yellowstone National Park, in Wyoming.

The marriage of Miss Ethel Mae Hubbard, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Hubbard, to Mr. Jeremiah Mackessy took place in the rectory of St. Francis de Sales Church Saturday morning at 10 o'clock. The ceremony was witnessed by the immediate relations of the two contracting parties, the Rev. A. M. Mackessy officiating. Miss Ada Bateman, cousin of the bride, was her only attendant. Mr. P. J. Foley was best man. The bride was gown in a costume of white brocade crepe de chine with old pearl garniture, and white straw hat trimmed with lilies of the valley and gardenias, and carried a shower bouquet. After the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Mackessy left for Atlantic City and Philadelphia.

The bride's going-away costume was of black and white silk with hat to match. Upon their return Mr. and Mrs. Mackessy will be at home to their friends at 1331 Eighth street northwest.

The marriage of Miss Ada E. Powell to Mr. James M. Cooper took place yesterday morning at Gurley Memorial Church, Rev. Bernard Braskamp, the pastor, officiating. The bride was given in marriage by her mother, Mrs. Mary E. Powell, and was attended by Mrs.

The latest thing in parasols is the vegetable trimmed article, with which the American-born, Lady Garnard, made the hit of the occasion at Ascot last week. Even King George is said to have commented favorably on this sunshade which was of blue silk with a Ensign Harold J. Nelson, U. S. N., one of the most popular bachelor officers of the service, is receiving congratulations on his promotion to succeed Paymaster General T. J. Cowie, who has resigned. Pay Inspector McGowan, who has been Paymaster of the Atlantic Fleet, under two administrations, is the youngest man ever to have reached his new post. He is a member of the University, Chevy Chase, and Army and Navy clubs, and a former resident of South Carolina.

Commander and Mrs. Philip Williams have given up their cottage at 13 Champlain street, Newport, and sail shortly for Commander Williams' new post at Rio de Janeiro, where he is sent as naval attaché to the American Embassy. Capt. H. W. Harrison accompanies them for their stay in Brazil.

Pay Inspector Sam McGowan, U. S. N., one of the most popular bachelor officers of the service, is receiving congratulations on his promotion to succeed Paymaster General T. J. Cowie, who has resigned.

The bride was escorted by her father and preceded by the maid of honor, Miss Bertha M. Whalley. The bride wore a lovely gown of ivory crepe meteor, draped in Chantilly lace, which was caught up with sprays of lilies of the valley. Her veil was of tulle, and was arranged with a cap effect and a wreath of lilies of the valley. The maid of honor wore lace and pink chiffon, and carried Killarney roses. Mr. John F. Brockwell was best man.

After the ceremony a reception was held on the lawn, which was illuminated with shaded electric bulbs. After the reception Mr. and Mrs. Lepper left for Niagara Falls, New York, Boston, and Norfolk.

The bride was a graduate of Normal School last year. They will be at home after July 1, at 628 Gresham place northwest.

The out-of-town guests at the wedding were Dr. Hummer and family, from Canton, S. Dak.; Mr. J. B. Hummer and wife, from St. Louis, Mo.; Mr. and Mrs. William Standberry, Dr. Clinton Standberry, Misses Florence and Katie Standberry, Mrs. Stauch, and Misses Hattie and Bertie Humphrey, all from Baltimore.

A beautiful wedding took place on Thursday evening when Miss Mary Grimes became the bride of John Henry Reikley at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Mary M. Grimes, at 207 First street northwest. The bride wore a handsome gown of white crepe de chine and Venetian lace and carried a shower bouquet of roses and lily of the valley. She was attended by her sister, Mrs. Waugh Heugster as matron of honor. Three little cousins, Lillian, Imogene, and Georgiana McElroy were flower girls. They scattered flowers from the baskets which they carried.

Miss Willie Rodler sang "O Promise Me" just before playing the wedding march from Lohengrin. Mr. Reikley had as his best man Mr. Waugh Heugster, of this city.

Following the ceremony, which was performed by Rev. John MacMurray, of the Union Methodist Episcopal Church, of which the bride is a member, a reception was held. Mr. and Mrs. Reikley will be at home at The Seaton about July 20.
